Books make terrific gifts

Friends of the Nipomo Library

BOOK SALE

Saturday, Nov. 19 • 10am-2pm

There will be something for everyone's taste at the Friends of the Nipomo Library's next book sale on Saturday, Nov.

19—an excellent opportunity to pick up gift books for everybody on your holiday list. A mystery for Mom? Picture book or puzzles for Junior? Look for fiction and nonfiction, history, biography, fantasy, romance, and plenty of lavishly illustrated volumes on cooking and entertaining. Be sure to arrive early for best selection!

Reminder: Our annual meeting is set for Dec. 14, 2-4pm, in the Community Room. Everyone's invited! Volunteers will be recognized and the new Friends of the Nipomo Library Board of Directors will be seated.

Manager's Message

From Heidi LoCascio
Library Branch Manager

Hello! The holidays are coming, and you may be planning a trip out of town and looking for something to do with friends or family. The San Luis Obispo County Library system has a program called Discover & Go that offers free and low cost passes to museums, science centers, zoos, and other cultural destinations. All you need is your SLO County library card and to log into—you guessed it—the library home page (www.slobib.org). Click on the Discover & Go picture under the ADULTS tab. Log in with your library card number and password to find out the destinations and offers at each location. Information on how to get the passes and all requirements for using this service is located on the Discover & Go page.

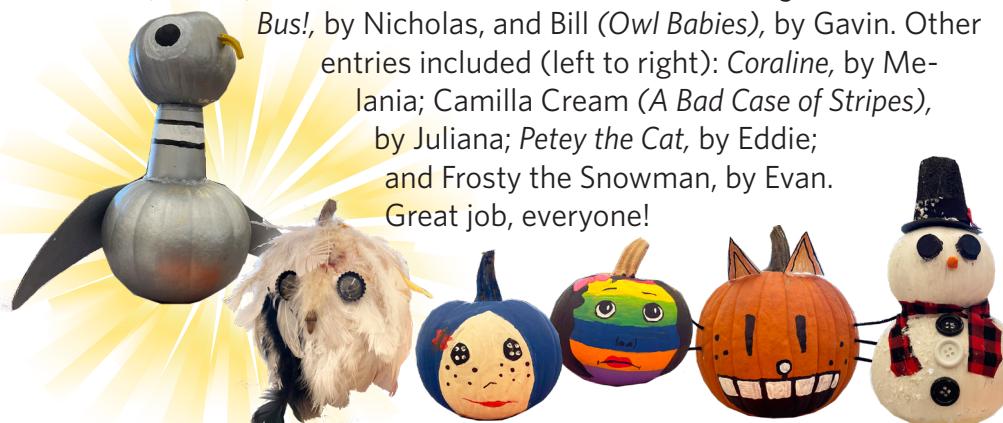

What's new with library accounts? Voicemail phone notification has been reestablished as a notification option. This option will leave a voicemail alert when a requested item is ready for pickup, or you have an overdue item. If you are interested in this option,

And the winner is...

All of the entries in last month's literary pumpkin contest were so cute and creative that library patrons had a tough time deciding. So difficult, in fact, that it was a tie between Don't Let the Pigeon Drive the Bus!, by Nicholas, and Bill (Owl Babies), by Gavin. Other entries included (left to right): Coraline, by Melina; Camilla Cream (A Bad Case of Stripes), by Juliana; Pete the Cat, by Eddie; and Frosty the Snowman, by Evan. Great job, everyone!

The Friends of the Nipomo Library Board's next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 2pm. The meeting will be held in the Community Room at the library, 918 W. Tefft St., Nipomo. The public is always welcome.

Don't miss the new Tale Trail

"It started the summer of 2002,
when the Springfield librarian, Molly McGrew,
by mistake drove her bookmobile into the zoo."

What comes next is more fun than a barrel of monkeys! Through clever rhymes and enchanting images, Molly proceeds to introduce the birds and beasts to something new—reading—and finds the perfect book for each animal.

You and your little ones will have fun following along on our latest Tale Trail, located outside the Nipomo Library.

A winner of the E.B. White Read Aloud

Award, Wild About Books was written by Judy Sierra and illustrated by Marc Brown.

So many reasons to be thankful

'Tis the season to be thankful, and living here on the beautiful Central Coast we have so many reasons.

Let everyone know what you're thankful for by adding a leaf to the big tree in the library lobby. Not surprisingly, several so far list "books" and "our library"!

please call the library and the staff will get it set up.

What's new in the children's area of the library? We have set up a crafting corner. Kids can use their imaginations to make their own creations. Crafting supplies will change periodically and may include things like colored paper, scissors, glue sticks, stickers, pipe cleaners, crayons, and/or cardboard.

Also, the train table is back. Bring your little engineer to the library to drive the train or create a new track layout.

See you at the library!

*November holiday hours

The Library will close early on Wednesday, Nov. 23 (5pm) and be closed on Thanksgiving Day and the next (Nov. 24 and 25). Regular days and hours will resume on Saturday. Have a happy Thanksgiving!
